The Call of the Pewee

PEWEE VALLEY, OLDHAM COUNTY, KENTUCKY

Vol. 19 No. 6 JUNE 1988

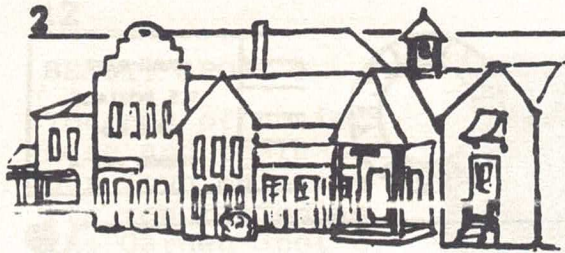

The bell atop Pewee Valley's Town Hall is ringing again, after repairs to its tower. From inside the Town Hall, Mayor Vivien Reinhardt pulled the rope to signal the City Council meeting on June 6.

While tower work was under way, the big bell rested in the firehouse, snuggled next to a fireman's jacket.

Ken Hinton did the repairs on the 90-year-old tower.

TAXES REMAIN SAME

Pewee Valley's city tax rate remains the same this year as last -- 23 cents per $100 valuation. The tax ordinance was enacted by the City Council on June 6.

Tax bills are expected to go into the mail early in July, as usual.

SQUIRRELS WIN

Use of firearms to eliminate "pesky squirrels" is no longer permitted in Pewee Valley. The City Council on June 6 voted to sanction firearms only in the defense of person or property, taking out a reference to the shooting of the poor squirrels in a recent ordinance.

BEST-EVER CRUSADE

Pewee Valley Fire District volunteers raised the most ever for the Crusade for Children this year -- $16,800. The total last year was $14,480.

POLICE NEWS

The driver of a St. Aloysius school bus has been charged with wanton endangerment, disregarding railroad crossing lights and not having his driver's license with him after allegedly driving across the tracks as a train approached.

Louisvillian John Parker was cited on May 18 by Pewee Valley Police Chief Larry Walls immediately after the alleged incident took place between Mt. Mercy Drive and LaGrange Road near Ash Avenue.

The case was to go to court on June 10 (after our press time).

Police gave 17 citations for speeding in May, according to Chief Walls' monthly report. Other highway citations: two for alcohol intoxication, and one each for improper passing, no operator's license, suspended operator's license, expired tags, and disregarding stop sign.

COUNCIL ADOPTS BUDGET

The City Council has adopted a budget of $166,417.44 for the fiscal year beginning July 1. These are the figures in detail:

FUN, FOOD AND FRIVOLITY TO BENEFIT PEWEE VALLEY

By Lee Stracy

The newly-formed Historic Pewee Valley, Inc., with Karen Graves as president, needs $5000.00 as matching funds to continue the efforts to list structures and districts of our town as historic landmarks.

To keep fund-raising fun and painless (except for those organizing the event), a "Country Picnic and Auction" will be held on Sunday, August 21 at 10 o'clock, on the grounds of "Bedlam Manor", the beautiful historic home of Ben and Mary Sanders at 114 Central Avenue.

If you feel as I, that living in Pewee Valley is a privilege, and want to protect and preserve our historic area, then you surely will want to help make the picnic and auction a tremendous success.

Mark your calendar now! Sunday, August 21! More fun-filled details will follow in the next "Call of the Pewee".

LITTLE COLONEL PLAYHOUSE

In September 1955, through the efforts of Mrs. Elsie Stanforth, Chairperson of a Community Achievement Contest sponsored by the General Federation of Women's Clubs and the Sears-Roebuck Foundation, and her committee—Mesdames Eldon DuRand, Horace Bell and Edwin Dean of the Pewee Valley Woman's Club—the fulfillment of a hope for a little theater in their town became a reality. Philip Hollenbach agreed to act as Director. His countless hours of time, talent, and devotion became a nucleus for their success.

The group first met upstairs over the old Beard's Grocery at the invitation of its owner—M. C. Stoess. Meetings were preceded by a mop and bucket brigade and the addition of an oil heater. The group was incorporated in 1956 with Mrs. Stanforth as President, Allen Clark as Treasurer, Lee Heiman as Treasurer, and Sarah Daugherty, Secretary.

In 1957, they leased the old Fresh Air Camp building in Valley Camp from the Louisville Community Chest. One hundred chairs were purchased for 50 cents apiece from the old Strand Theater in Louisville. Taking their name from Pewee Valley's own Little Colonel, immortalized in books by Annie Fellows Johnston, they presented three one-act plays in April 1958.

After many productions, the Valley Camp property was sold in 1963 for Lloydsboro Subdivision (Rebel, Colonel Way and Cherry Hill Streets). Meanwhile, Beard's Grocery had moved into a new building across LaGrange Road and the Players were able to again lease the building in which they had first met, and remodel it into a theatre. After the post office moved from what is now the Green Room, the Players had use of the entire building. In 1969, they bought it and have been remodeling and improving it ever since.

Frank and Louise Mahin have been the backbone of the Little Colonel Players. They have worked both backstage and in front of the lights since 1958, bringing their children and grandchildren as active workers and cast members. Frank has the distinction of having had more stage wives than any other player!

The Mahins have now moved to the Middletown area, but their hearts will remain with the Pewee Valley Presbyterian Church and the Playhouse, and we hope to see them as often as we did when they lived on Ash Avenue.

Present officers of the Little Colonel Players are President, Steve Dunlap; Vice-president, Paul Townsend; Secretary, Kathie Hodge; Treasurer, Dave Nuermberger.

Four plays, a youth summer production and a children's workshop are done each year with open tryouts announced before each one. Family involvement is encouraged. Membership is open to anyone, and includes a season ticket for the four plays of the regular season, plus mailings about tryouts and upcoming events.

ROGER AND JUDI COLLINS

Beautiful trees and a sense of community attracted Roger and Judi Collins to Pewee Valley last November.

Originally from Georgia, the Collinses moved from Las Vegas, Nevada when Roger was appointed Vice President of Group Health at Humana Inc.

Judi is an award-winning television writer/producer. Her credits include Entertainment Tonight, ESPN, and Bob Hope Enterprises as well as ABC, NBC and CBS television networks.

The Collinses enjoy gardening, bicycling and taking long afternoon walks. Roger's passions are antique cars, hunting and sports. Judi likes to experiment with gourmet recipes. She jokes that her cooking is experimental. "Sometimes my concoctions are good...and sometimes not even the cat will eat them!"

The cat, obviously well fed, is a black and white male named "Tuxedo"

"We like Pewee Valley," Roger explains, "it offers the special qualities of friendly people, beautiful old trees and small town living within a short drive to downtown Louisville."

CLAYTON AND CLAUDIA STOESS

Clayton and Claudia Stoess returned to Oldham County in 1975 to join the family hardware business. The concept of a fine furniture store became a reality when they established The Manor Shop. Today a new four-story building in Crestwood keeps up with the demand in Oldham County. Their reputation extends into Louisville as the Stoesses won top Designer awards for the second year in a row in the Home Builders Association.

Although Clayton grew up in Crestwood, he can claim to be a native of Pewee Valley...actually born in the Pewee Valley Hospital. He received a degree in Political Science at Centre College and a Masters in Political Philosophy from the University of Wisconsin.

Claudia is a graduate of Oldham County High School. She holds a degree in English from Centre College. The responsibilities of being a full-time designer has not stopped her from volunteering in their church and schools. But most of all she enjoys the time spent with their two daughters - Leigh, 9, and Lindsay, 6.

The Stoesses reside on LaGrange Road.

CHARLIE AND DIANA TRAPP

Charlie and Diana Trapp's new home in Shadowwood completes this small subdivision tucked off Highway 22. The prospect of a wooded lot was enough to bring the Trapps into Pewee Valley from just over on Ash Avenue. Charlie says he "wouldn't be anywhere else; we love Oldham County."

A University of Louisville graduate in business, Charlie has been with Ford Motor Company for 25 years. He played college basketball but chooses to be just a spectator these days. Fishing is also a favorite pasttime.

Diana is originally from Clarksville, Indiana. She has worked in sales and public finance and always enjoyed her volunteer work in the schools. But recently she decided to get paid for these hours and became a tutor and aid for Centerfield Elementary.

Diana loves all kinds of crafts and seems to find time for that in her busy schedule. She has been in a few shows and contemplates more involvement.

The Trapps have a daughter and two sons. Lonnie is 20 and works at Bacon's, Jeremy is 13 and attends SOMS, and Kristian is a fifth grader at Crestwood.

'88 NATIONAL MERIT FINALISTS

Two Pewee Valley young people, Andrea Jones and Eric Nuermberger, have been named National Merit Finalists in the 1988 competition conducted by National Merit Scholarship Corporation. They qualified on the basis of their scores on the PSAT and SAT College Board Tests. They are two of eight Finalists named from Oldham County High School.

Besides her excellent academic record, Andrea was a Governor's Scholar and a vice president of National Honor Society. Her interests include drama and soccer. She is working this summer at Arby's.

Andrea will enter Indiana University in the fall. She is the daughter of Linda and Wayne Jones.

Eric has balanced his time this year between studies, playing varsity basketball, and working part-time for Winn-Dixie. He is the recipient of the Thomas J. Watson Memorial Scholarship given by IBM Corporation and an Honor Scholarship given by Kenyon College.

Eric will be attending Kenyon College in the fall.

He is the son of Patti and Dave Nuermberger.

Cynthia Reynolds, a former

Pewee Valley resident, is a National Merit Finalist also. The daughter of Carole Bockey and Kim Reynolds, she will be attending Centre College this fall.

BEAUTY SPOTS ●

Touches of posies here and there help Our Town maintain its reputation as the Garden Spot of the World. Those in the Fire Pit were donated by nurseryman Sandy Abrams and planted and cared for by Becky Gordon and City Councilwoman Kathie Hodge.

More input from Kathie: Two planters like this one on the Town Hall porch.

For years Mayor Vivien Reinhardt has been gracing street corners with hanging baskets and also plantings at the base of street-sign posts.
